Summary

Dr Thomas Hildebrand is a Director in the Berlin office. He joined E.CA Economics in October 2011. Thomas has extensive experience supporting clients across various competition-economics fields, with a particular focus on cartel cases (e.g. the air cargo and synthetic rubber cartel matters), merger proceedings (e.g. RHI/Magnesita, HeidelbergCement/Italcementi and Immonet/Immowelt) and abuse of dominance cases. Thomas' industry experience spans a broad variety of fields including grocery retailing, fast-moving consumer goods, chemicals, cement, refractories, automotive parts, freight forwarding, print/television/online advertising and digital markets. Thomas has worked on cases brought before the European Commission, the German Bundeskartellamt and the Swiss Competition Commission (WEKO) as well as on private litigation matters. Thanks to his empirically informed background, Thomas has particular expertise in applying statistical and econometric methods to cartel cases and merger proceedings.

Prior to joining E.CA Economics, Thomas worked as a post-doctoral researcher at the "Governance and the Efficiency of Economic Systems" Collaborative Research Centre/Transregio 15 programme at the Humboldt University of Berlin and also as a guest researcher at the Deutsche Bundesbank.
