Summary

Dr Hans W. Friederiszick is a Director and founder of E.CA Economics. Dr Friederiszick has more than 20 years of experience advising clients across the competition economics field (i.e. mergers, cartels, abuse of a dominant position and State aid cases) and has led teams of economists engaged in international antitrust investigations. He has been retained as an economic expert in the German, UK and other European courts and has been named in Global Competition Review's (GCR) Who's Who as one of the field's leading competition economists. According to WWL's 2019 client survey: "he is by far the best economist in Germany and the most sought-after". Dr Friederiszick was part of the first Chief Economist Team of DG COMP (2003 to 2006) and was a member of the steering committee of the Association of Competition Economics (2016 to 2018).

Leading casework includes the multi-billion-euro merger between Holcim and Lafarge as well as EDEKA's closely watched acquisition of rival Kaiser's Tengelmann in Germany (which was resolved through ministerial approval). Dr Friederiszick has provided support to Telefónica in the Vodafone/ Unity Media Merger and to Remondis, most recently, on the takeover attempt of Duales System Deutschland. He has additionally received widespread recognition for his private litigation work in cases addressing the synthetic rubber, the air cargo and credit card sectors (plaintiff side), as well as the smart-card chip and fast-moving consumer goods sectors (defendant side). He won a large-scale framework contract supporting the European Commission, where he worked as a consortium leader on the EC fitness check of various state aid guidelines.

Dr Friederiszick is a Research Fellow at ESMT Berlin. He has published widely and is a regular speaker at international antitrust conferences. Recent publications address regional state aid (in Werner/ Verouden: EU State Aid Control. Law and Economics), the economic analysis in European competition law (NOMOS Kommentar, Europäisches Wettbewerbsrecht) and cartel litigation activity (Journal of Antitrust Enforcement).

Relevant experience – Competition policy enforcement

Merger cases

- REAL/Redos (retail grocery, 2020): Support to the merging parties concerning the sale of around 280 REAL stores in Germany. In-depth analysis of geographic market definition in retail grocery markets. Several presentations to the German competition authority.
- Vertical merger in poultry breeding (2019): Feasibility study and pre-notification support in the poultry breeding industry for the merging parties. Analysis of potential input and customer foreclosure. German Competition Authority.
- Vodafone/Liberty (cable network, 2019): Support to Telefónica (complainant) in a merger proceeding. Assessment of unilateral (closest competitor analysis; UPP) and coordinated effects. Assessment of incentives to innovate and to invest in new infrastructure. Remedy proposal. EU proceedings.
- Remondis and DSD (plastic waste collection, 2019): Assessment of horizontal and vertical competitive effects on behalf of the merging parties. Remondis is active on all levels of the value chain of the recycling business, i.e. collecting, sorting and processing as well as recycling of water. DSD ("Duales System Deutschland") is a client of Remondis at different points of the value chain. Analysis and simulation of the plausibility of vertical theories of harm. Remedy proposal. German Competition Authority.
- EnBW/MVV (waste incineration, 2017): Relevant market definition for the acquiring party in the waste incineration sector in Germany. Application of UPP analysis in the context of bidder markets and minority shareholding. Analysis of related markets such as electricity. German Competition Authority.
- AirBerlin/TUI joint venture (holiday tour operators/ air carriers, 2017): Analysis of vertical theories of harm, i.e. likelihood of input foreclosure in downstream markets of tour operators. Horizontal competition concerns were addressed by conducting a margin concentration analysis. Pre-notification support. EU proceedings.
- Cement industry in South Africa, Zimbabwe, Kenya and Tanzania (2017): Economic antitrust risk assessment for the parties.
- Owens Corning/Ahlstrom (manufacturing industry, 2016): Merger in the market of wet-made glass fibre nonwovens. Market definition and competitive impact assessment for the companies involved. Analysis of supply-side substitution and margins. German proceedings
- Good Mills - acquisition of household flour brands flour (2015): Analysis of substitution between brands and private label products for the merging parties. German Competition Authority.
- EDEKA/Kaiser's Tengelmann (food retailing, 2015): Merger of two large retail grocery store chains in Germany. Analysis of geographic market definition (chains of substitution), market shares, econometric estimation of price-concentration relationship, survey design and evaluation (SSNIP, diversion ratio), critical loss analysis and input to the legal submissions. German proceedings.
- Good Mills/Pfalzmühle Mannheim (durum wheat, 2014): Acquisition of a durum wheat mill - Customer switching analysis for merging parties. German Competition Authority.

- Holcim/Lafarge merger (cement industry, 2014): Global transaction bringing together two of the leading grey cement manufacturers in the world. Representation of the parties in the European proceedings; notification support, detailed overlap analyses (Isochrones) and remedy proposal. Coordination with US teams and instructions to teams in other jurisdictions. EU proceedings.
- Holcim/Cemex West merger (cement industry, 2013): Assessment of competitive effects in the markets for grey cement in Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands. Isochrone analyses, margin concentration analysis, coordinated effects analyses for the parties. EU proceedings
- Merger feasibility study in the European fat industry (2013): Assessment of the relevant geographic market and the likelihood of competitive effects of a proposed merger in the consumer goods industry. In-depth analysis of delivery radius, over-capacities, customer switching and an estimation of the maximum price increase post-merger. For the acquiring party.
- Merger case in the insulation industry (2013): Geographic market definition. For Knauf Isolations. German proceedings.
- Potential merger case in the waste collecting industry (2011): Market definition and effects analysis in order to assess the potential for future merger cases in the industry.
- Merger in the Eastern European cement industry (2010): Advice to Holcim concerning the take-over of several Slovak grey cement plants. The analysis focussed on market definition. A critical loss analysis was carried out. Testimony for the Hungarian, Slovak and Czech competition authorities.
- Proposed merger in the printing machine industry (2009): Economic analysis of product and geographic market definition for the merging parties. Econometric analysis of the parties' internal pricing data, as well as the analysis of publicly available information on international trade volumes. German proceedings.
- GN/Phonak merger (hearing aids, 2008): Advise to GN Store in response to the prohibition decision of the proposed merger with Phonak by the German competition authority. Written testimony on the application of coordinated effects analysis in the industry and presentation to the higher regional court. In 2009, the highest German court confirmed our assessment and overturned the prohibition decision by the national competition authority (with L.-H. Röller and A. Stephan).
- Google/Yahoo (online advertisement market, 2008): Analysis of the competitive relationship between various search engines based on a comprehensive data set provided by AC Nielsen on behalf of a complainant. The report analyses both sides of the online advertisement market for sponsored text links: viewer's reach and overlap of various search engines for several European countries as well as the advertisers' switching behaviour for Germany. The alliance did not materialise. US and EU proceedings.
- Google/DoubleClick merger (2007): Support to a complainant. The assessment provides an overview of the economics of online advertising markets, investigates the different technological and commercial models for providing ad-server functionality, and presents a competitive assessment of the transaction. Significant issues are raised related to the potential anticompetitive effects of the merger, and empirical questions are posed which need addressing in order to assess these effects further. European Commission.
- European Directories/Truvo (yellow print pages, 2008): Re-assessment of competitive effects after the Netherlands Competition Authority issued a statement of objections regarding the proposed merger of the only two suppliers of yellow print pages. The analysis focussed on competition from online media and the market's two-sidedness. The merger was cleared. Dutch proceedings.
- Oracle/Sun merger (2009): Assessment of the potential horizontal and vertical effects of the Oracle-Sun Microsystems merger. A white paper was submitted to the European Commission with a detailed description of possible theories of harm. In the second stage of the merger analysis, an empirical analysis of database usage was carried out. The merger has gone to Phase II in both the US and EU.

- Microsoft/Contentguard merger (2005): Assessment of the likelihood of anticompetitive effects of the merger as part of the EC Commission's case team. Assessment of the patent position of the merging markets. The merger was withdrawn.
- Inco/Falconbridge (2005): Assessment of the potential anticompetitive effects of a merger in the nickel and cobalt industry as part of the EC Commission's case team. The merger was approved with remedies.
- GE/Honeywell (2004): Testimony for the EC reassessing the theory of harm and empirical evidence put forward by the Commission. Support of L.-H. Röller for and participated at the hearing in front of the European Court of Justice.

Abuse cases

- Abuse of a dominant position (excessive pricing) in the nuclear energy industry: Analyses of the price negotiations between two leading plant operators regarding the price of productions licences for nuclear energy in the context of the nuclear phase out in Germany.
- Abuse of dominance in the market for genetically modified corn seed: Assessment of anticompetitive effects for a claimant. Market definition and theory of harm analysis in European and US markets.
- Damages assessment in the accommodation and hotel business: Analysis of possible damages due to best price clauses from hotel booking platforms on the behalf of a large German hotel booking platform.
- Abuse of a dominant position in the railway sector: Advice to an incumbent railway operator in the context of a predatory pricing claim. Implementation of "As Efficient Competitor Test", analysis of suction effects and assessment of potential efficiencies due to yield management. National Proceedings.
- Antitrust case in the transport sector: Advise concerning allegations of an anticompetitive agreement. EU administrative proceedings.
- Market definition for cancer drugs: Market definition analysis as an input to dominance test for cancer drugs. German proceedings.
- Assessment of exclusionary conduct in the German gambling industry (FLUXX): Expert testimony on the damages related to refusal-to-deal allegations by state owned lottery firms vis-à-vis private gambling brokers. German Proceedings.
- Economic effects of credit card rules in the ATM segment: Analysis focused on the distortion effects of "Honour-All-Cards" rules (HAC) and no-discrimination clauses on competition as well as investment in the ATM segment. Examination of the likelihood of HAC rules hampering market entry of credit card systems in Europe. On behalf of an ATM provider. German proceedings.
- Study on buyer power and the outcome of bilateral negotiations in the grocery retailing industry: The competition authority investigated whether a large retailer had abused its dominant position vis-à-vis dependent suppliers. The study assessed the empirical relationship between the dependency measure proposed by the agency and the outcome of bilateral negotiations between the retailer and various suppliers. The investigation involved hypothesis testing as well as regression analysis.

- Relevant product market definition in the audio books sector: Assessment of substitution patterns for different distribution channels of audio books (physical vs. digital). Critical loss analysis to define the relevant product market for digital audiobooks. German proceedings.
- Abuse of a dominant position in the market for medical information systems: Development of a method to analyse excessive prices in a two-sided market. For Galenica AG (Defendant). Swiss proceedings.
- Assessment of conditional rebates in TV advertisement markets: Analysis of conditional rebates applying the tests proposed in the EC staff paper on Art.102 TFEU. Quantification of the differences between rebate schemes for different customer groups and their potential suction effect. Customers switching analysis.
- Abuse of a dominant position in financial data industry: General advice and economic arguments (e.g. efficiencies) in the EU proceedings regarding the 2009 investigation of Thomson Reuter's potential abuse of its dominant position in financial data by its RIC code licensing restrictions.

- Abuse of a dominant position in the natural gas industry: Economic assessment on behalf of the plaintiff. Austrian proceedings.
- Advised plaintiff regarding anticompetitive foreclosure in the aviation industry: Support, jointly with a transatlantic team, to a spare parts supplier which accused the dominant firm of impeding its market entry by foreclosing certain inputs and also certain customers.
- Market definition for payment systems: Online survey to assess substitution patterns between alternative payment systems. For PayPal. German proceedings.
- Market definition of online trading platforms: Distribution of online questionnaires to more than 2,000 sellers and buyers in a two-sided market context. Determination of price elasticities as well as cross-participation elasticities for both sides. Application of a critical loss analysis considering both elasticities to define the relevant product market. For eBay. German Proceedings.
- Support of a complainant regarding Google's alleged abuse of a dominant position: Development of an economically robust theory of harm regarding the alleged discrimination in Google's organic search in favour of its own vertical search engines. In the empirical part of the project, search results for the main general search engines were collected on a variety of keywords to compare the placement of different competitors within the first page of search results. The EC Commission initiated a sector inquiry into this industry in response and later fined Google for self-preferencing.
- Abuse of a dominant position in a medical device market: Advise to Synthes AG, a leading manufacturer of medical devices, in the context of a potential investigation of the German Federal Cartel Office. German proceedings.
- Assessment concerning compatibility of an envisaged purchasing agreement with Article 101 TFEU: Assistance to a client in its self-assessment concerning the compatibility of an envisaged purchasing agreement with Article 101 TFEU.
- Pass-through analysis of CO2 certificates in the German electricity sector for RWE. Based on theoretical grounds and on a detailed assessment of the contractual specificities, pass-through was economically justified and not considered an indicator of single or joint dominance. The case was finally settled.

- AstraZeneca abuse of a dominant position case: Support to the case team on an appropriate methodology to delineate markets in a regulated industry. Assessment of the econometric studies provided by the defendant. Participation and rebuttal of the studies at the hearing.
- Collecting societies/ CISAC: Re-assessment of the economic studies put forward by the parties, support to the case team regarding data collection and participation at the hearing.

Determination of price elasticities as well as cross-participation elasticities for both sides. Application of a critical loss analysis considering both elasticities to define the relevant product market
- Market definition for payment systems: Online survey to assess substitution patterns between alternative payment systems. Performance of a comprehensive description of the properties of various payment systems. Implementation of a critical loss analysis based on available market information. For PayPal. German proceedings.
- Report on the sustainability of future business models for Deutsche Telekom: In this report, various potential business models with a view to sustainability in terms of the ability to accommodate future traffic flows, social welfare implications and resulting implications for net neutrality regulation are analysed.
- Support of a complainant regarding the Google/DoubleClick merger: The assessment provides an overview of the economics of online advertising markets, investigates the different technological and commercial models for providing ad-server functionality, and presents a competitive assessment of the transaction. Significant issues are raised as to the potential anticompetitive effects of the merger, and empirical questions are posed that have to be addressed in order to further assess these effects. European Commission.

Energy

- Abuse of a dominant position (excessive pricing) in the nuclear energy industry: Analyses of the price negotiations between two leading plant operators regarding the price of productions licences for nuclear energy in the context of the nuclear phase out in Germany.
- Framework contract “fitness check”: Ex-post evaluation of the environmental and energy guidelines.

- Gas isolated switchgear cartel: Overcharge and pass-on analysis for various plaintiffs, German court proceedings.
- Abuse of a dominant position in the gas wholesale market: Assessment of the potential anticompetitive effects of a long-term contract for a natural gas wholesaler. International arbitration case.
- Abuse of a dominant position in the natural gas industry: Economic assessment on behalf of the plaintiff. Austrian proceedings.
- Pass-through analysis of CO2 certificates in the German electricity sector for RWE. Based on theoretical grounds and on a detailed assessment of the contractual specificities pass-through was economically justified and not considered an indicator of single or joint dominance. The case was finally settled.

Telecommunications

- Vodafone/ Liberty (cable network, 2019): Support to Telefónica (complainant) in the merger proceedings. Assessment of unilateral (closest competitor analysis; UPP) and coordinated effects. Assessment of incentives to innovate and to invest in new infrastructure. Remedy proposal. EU proceedings.
- Competitive effects of infrastructure cooperation: Swisscom and local utility suppliers' aim to jointly deploy high-speed fibre-based broadband networks, subject to certain agreements. Assessments of the competitive effects of these agreements. It was found that the proposed infrastructure cooperation was likely beneficial for customers for it stimulated investments and did not distort competition.
- Critical review of the EU Regulatory Framework for eCommunications: Comment on the European Commission's review of the framework that regulates the telecommunications industry in Europe, focussing on the relationship between (de-) regulation and investment in the telecommunications sector.
- Report on the sustainability of future business models for Deutsche Telekom: Analysis of various potential business models with a view to sustainability in terms of the ability to accommodate future traffic flows, social welfare implications and resulting implications for net neutrality regulation.
- Research project for Deutsche Telekom on the relationship between entry regulation and investment in the telecommunications sector: The report analyses the relationship between entry regulation and infrastructure investment in the telecommunications sector, contributing to the ongoing debate on how to reshape the regulatory framework for eCommunications. The empirical analysis is based on a comprehensive data set of investment data covering 180 fixed-line and mobile operators in 25 European countries over 10 years and employs a newly created indicator measuring regulatory intensity in the various countries.
- Empirical study for Swisscom on the effects of regulation on investment in the telecommunication industry: Extension to the previous report by Hans W. Friederiszick, M. Grajek and L.-H. Röller (2006) towards Switzerland and cable companies.

Pharmaceutical and related industries

- Abuse of dominance in the market for genetically modified corn seed: Assessment of anticompetitive effects in behalf of a claimant. Market definition and theory of harm analysis in European and US markets.
- Assessment of damages arising from the breach of contract in the dental braces market: Estimation of counterfactual profits on behalf of the plaintiff had the non-compete clause not been violated.
- Market definition for cancer drugs: Market definition analysis as an input to dominance test for cancer drugs. German proceedings.
- Abuse of a dominant position in the market for medical information systems: Development of a method to analyse excessive prices in a two-sided market. For Galenica AG (Defendant). Swiss proceedings.
- Over-the-counter vs. prescription: Research project in the pharmaceutical industry on the effect of switches of molecules from prescription to over-the-counter status.
- Abuse of a dominant position in a medical device market: Advise for Synthes AG, a leading manufacturer of medical devices, in the context of a potential investigation of the German Federal Cartel Office. German proceedings.
- Quantitative and theoretical analysis of the effect of pricing and reimbursement regulation on pharmaceutical innovation for Novartis: The possible consequences that pricing and reimbursement regulation may have on pharmaceutical innovation are analysed first qualitatively and then in the context of a calibrated decision-theoretic model of drug development. Our findings indicate that, in designing optimal regulation, the benefits of more affordable or cost-effective drugs must be traded against the costs of less pharmaceutical innovation, with fewer projects being developed in general and in particular in low-margin therapeutic areas or with little potential of being considered highly innovative by the regulator at the time of the market launch.
- Assessment of tender procedures for generics: Comparison between different countries. For Sandoz.
- AstraZeneca abuse of a dominant position case: Support to the case team on an appropriate methodology to delineate markets in a regulated industry. Assessment of the econometric studies provided by the defendant. Participation and rebuttal of the studies at the hearing.

Transportation

- Abuse of a dominant position in the railway sector: Advice to an incumbent railway operator in the context of a predatory pricing claim. Carrying out of an "As Efficient Competitor Test", analysis of suction effects and assessment of potential efficiencies due to yield management. National Proceedings.
- Antitrust case in the transport sector: Advise on the allegation of an anticompetitive agreement. EU administrative proceedings.
- AirBerlin/ TUI joint venture (holiday tour operators/ air carriers, 2017): Analysis of vertical theories of harm, i.e. likelihood of input foreclosure in downstream markets of tour operators. Horizontal competition concerns were addressed by conducting a margin concentration analysis. Pre-notification support. EU proceedings.
- Advised complainant regarding anticompetitive foreclosure in the aviation industry: Support, jointly with a transatlantic team, to a spare parts supplier which accused the dominant firm of impeding its market entry by foreclosing certain inputs and also certain customers.

- Air cargo transportation: Damage estimation for a group of international freight forwarders. Multijurisdictional proceedings.
- Freight Forwarder: Support to Schenker AG in the administrative proceedings at the European Commission.
- Sleepers (rail infrastructure): Estimation of damages for the defendant. Settlement negotiations.
- Reasonable return study in the regional rail market: The study on behalf of DB Regio AG assess the relative profitability of various European rail companies.
- Reasonable return study in the bus market: The study on behalf of DB Regio AG (Sparte Bus) identifies aspects which can determine the level of the appropriate return for bus companies receiving public service compensation.
- Economic assessment of incentive contracts (SGEI): Economic advice to Deutsche Bahn AG within the EU proceedings regarding directly awarded regional passenger transportation contracts.
- Market Economy Investor Test in the aviation industry: Market economy investor test on behalf of an international air carrier to exclude any unfair advantages due to state ownership.
- Supporting a complaint regarding R&D&I State aid in the aviation industry: Support to an airplane manufacturer to define a complaint strategy which rests on robust and consistent economic arguments under the new R&D&I Guidelines of the European Commission.
- Application of the Market Economy Investor Test to a larger European airport: Assessment of the compatibility of incentive payments to airlines by a publicly-owned airport with the market economy investor principle. Calculation of a discount factor based on the Weighted Average Cost of Capital, for which the costs of own capital was estimated using the Capital Asset Pricing Model.
- Research project: Competitive effects of alliances between major European rail companies in long-distance passenger transport. For Deutsche Bahn.
- Research project: Effectiveness of State aid to increase productivity of rail companies: Application of stochastic frontier techniques to assess the impact of subsidies on the output of rail companies. For the European Commission.

Financial sector

- Visa/ Mastercard interchange fees: Pass on analysis and assessment of tourist test in the credit card markets on behalf of a group of high street retailers (private litigation); UK Court proceeding.
- Financial market manipulation of the USD LIBOR: Damages estimation in relation to financial market manipulation. Assessment of various empirical methods to identify short-term or mid-term manipulation of various interest rates. Evaluating damages for individual asset portfolios.
- Financial market manipulation of the USD LIBOR: Support to a plaintiff; liability report, UK proceedings.
- Economic effects of credit card rules in the ATM segment: Analysis focused on the distortion effects of "Honour-All-Cards" rules (HAC) and no-discrimination clauses on competition as well as investment in the ATM segment. Examination of the likelihood of HAC rules hampering market entry of credit card systems in Europe. On behalf of an ATM provider. German proceedings
- Market definition for payment systems: Online survey to assess substitution patterns between alternative payment systems. A comprehensive description of the properties of various payment systems has been carried out. A critical loss analysis has been implemented based on available market information. For PayPal. German proceedings.

- Abuse of a dominant position in financial data industry: In 2009 the EC opened the investigation of Thomson Reuters potential abuse of its dominant position in financial data by its RIC code licensing restrictions. General advice and economic arguments (e.g. efficiencies) in the EU proceedings.
- German Landesbanken Cases: Support of the Commission's case team assessing the robustness of the viability studies put forward by the parties' economic experts.

Sector Inquiries

- Retail grocery sector: Support of a major German retailer in the German retail grocery sector inquiry.
- Gasoline stations in Germany: Empirical analysis of retail gasoline prices in a major German city for an industry association. One of the main conclusions of the study was the presence of Edgeworth-Cycles in the price data. The study also found no empirical evidence for the NCA's findings of collective dominance in the retail gasoline market.
- Outdoor advertising industry: In the context of a sector inquiry by the national competition authority into the outdoor advertising industry, an expert opinion was drafted on several business practices in this industry.
